Mrs. W. S. Myrick, Red Cross canteen chairman, received an order from divisional headquariers at Atlanta recently to select a group of canteen workers, and to see that they were given the necessary training for this work. She set about the task with the characteritise efficiency and perfect organization which have made the Memphis canteen such a creditable in Memphis canteen such a creditable in the characteritise efficiency and perfect organization which have made the Memphis canteen such a creditable institution, with the foregoing result. She has devoted every day to the development of this department from its organization, and has shown purified executive ability in entablishing its spiendid system and in directing its personnel of the women, who are divided into units, with the captain for each day in the week.

Assisting Mrs. Myrick in making arrangements for the training of this special unit was Mrs. Lee Mallory, of the canteen committee.

These ladies will take the place of the Red Cross nurses, all of whom are either with the forces overseas, or at the camps in America. They have taken the churse of canteen instruction and first aid course of lectures under Ir. J. E. Robinson, of the Marine hospital. Mrs. M. E. # Firestone Truck Tires

We are making daily trips to and from Brunswick, Tennessee, Byhalia and Hernando. Mississippi, carrying many tons of produce, also cotton, general freight and baggage transfer throughout the city with our fleet of 12 large trucks and 2 trailers, all equipped with Firestone Giants and regular tires. We find these truck tires best for our service. They cushion the truck and give long mileage.

Memphis Motor Transportation

We are operating a two-ton White truck equipped with Firestone Cushion Tires on the front wheels and Firestone Giants on the rears. These tires have been in daily service since June 6th, 1916. We consider this good service.

J. Goldsmith & Sons Company

We have been using Firestone truck tires for the past five years and get best results. At present all our trucks are equipped with Firestone Giant

Tires which have proven to be the best for our work on the

Gayoso Oil Works

We bought a pair of 40x10 Firestone Giant truck tires nearly two years ago for our 14-ton Mack truck. These tires are not more than half worn out. They have been in continuous service and made more than 10,000 miles. We formerly used dual tires and did not receive over 5,000 miles service. We also highly recommend the Firestone Glant for use in mud, snow and ice. They will not skid or slip nearly so easily as dual tires. We have often carried 10,000 pounds on this truck. On our ton and half Standard truck we have just worn out a set of Firestone truck tires after receiving 18,000 miles. In using tires of other makes we experienced cutting and chipping but Firestones wear down smooth and even. We insist on all trucks that we buy being equipped with Firestone tires.

Ft. Smith Merchants Transfer Co. Fort Smith, Ark.

We have used Firestone Truck Tires on one of our Republic Trucks for more than 10,000 miles. The tires look as though they will easily give another 5,000 mile service. On another truck we experiment. ed with another standard truck tire, much to our sorrow. These tires did not give us one-half the service received from Firestone Truck Tires. This test has caused us to insist on Firestone Truck Tire equipment on all trucks that we have bought since that the local money market, more definite assurances from federal sources that existing orders are to be canceled or curtailed with due regard to the interests of contractors and signs of a broadening investment demand were among the more important factors of this week's stock market.

The investment inquiry naturally converged around high-grade rails, which made up a considerable part of their setback of the past fortnight, despite mixed earnings for October and the lack of authoritative information regarding the administration's postbellum policy.

Popular industrials were moderately unsettled by the many shifts which are expected to take place, not only in reliation to labor, but of prices as well. The copper industry continued to reflect these uncertainties with numerous other commodities.

Oils and shippings disregarded general conditions as a rule and marines railed sharply on announcement that the United States government had made a qualified tender for the large tonnage under negotiation to British capital. the local money market, massurances from federal se
